

Innovation Analyst

Keen on research with a practical spin?

OxFirst is looking for an innovation analyst with strong research skills and interest in assessing the political, economic and business angle of legal contexts. In addition, you are a creative thinker and eager to make a difference to the world of innovation and enjoy lateral thinking. Finding pleasure in undertaking research and good writing capabilities are very desirable. Proven interest in intellectual property/competition law and economics would help the application.

Job requirements:

- > Strong interest in research, intellectual property, competition economics, law and economics, media & communications, international politics
- > Produce high quality research, with a view to provide transformative insights.
- > Use creative problem-solving skills; prepare qualitative studies.
- > Research, evaluate, and analyse innovation related data

Education:

- > Educated to B.A., M.A. or D.Phil. level
- > International Politics, Politics, Economics, STEM subjects, Media & Entertainment, Business
- > Exceptional academic and extra-curricular track record

Please send your C.V. and Cover Letter to recruiting@oxfirst.com
Please indicate your earliest start date.