

MSc Health Data Science

University of Liverpool

Online Showcase

We are happy to announce that an online showcase for the MSc Health Data Science programme, University of Liverpool, will take place on Wednesday 23rd November 12.00-13.00 UK time

The showcase will present information concerning the programme structure and entry criteria, as well as background of the host department and institute.

To register for the showcase for this programme please use link: <https://www.liverpool.ac.uk/study/postgraduate-taught/pg-open-day/open-week/>. On this page, please fill in your contact information and press next to move to the next screen. Select the option to filter by tag, and filter by "Health Data Science". The showcase will then appear. Press on the box displaying the time for the session to book the session, then press next to continue the registration process. For any issues please contact Dr Richard Jackson at richj23@liverpool.ac.uk.

